"The idea of this seminar is to look at the different heads of the capitalist system to try to understand whether it has new ways of attacking us or whether they are the same ones as before. If we are interested in other ways of thinking, it is in order to see if we are right about what we think is coming that there will be a tremendous economic crisis that will be added to existing evils and do tremendous damage to everyone everywhere, all over the world. So if it's true that this is coming, or that it's already happening, we need to think about whether it will work to keep doing the same things that have been done before." Subcomandante Insurgente Moises

"If there are those who think that everything is the same and that things can change through elections, marches, tweets, signatures on change.org or whatever the hell you call it well no, things aren't going to change like that. We have to find new ways. For what? Well that 'for what' is what we have to answer and we must once again draw the face of the [capitalist] Hydra, because it has changed." Subcomandante Insurgente Galeano"
