21st Century Complete Guide to Animal Rights, Animal Care, Veterinary Environmental Enrichment, Zoo and Circus Mammals, Primates, Farm Animals - Nature and Wildlife Guide Series (Two CD-ROM Set) U.S. Government

This is an up-to-date and comprehensive electronic book on two CD-ROMs about animal rights, animal care, veterinary environmental enrichment, zoo and circus mammals, primates, farm animals, and more. It includes material on the animal welfare information center; office of animal care and use; veterinary environmental enrichment; zoo, circus, and marine animals; environmental enrichment for nonhuman primates; research and laboratory animals; humane endpoints and euthanasia; farm animal welfare and safety. As part of the Nature and Wildlife Guide Series, it contains scientific research data along with public information, images and photographs. Regarding the Animal Welfare Act, The Congress finds that animals and activities which are regulated under this chapter are either in interstate or foreign commerce or substantially affect such commerce or the free flow thereof, and that regulation of animals and activities as provided in this chapter is necessary to prevent and eliminate burdens upon such commerce and to effectively regulate such commerce, in order (1) to insure that animals intended for use in research facilities or for exhibition purposes or for use as pets are provided humane care and treatment; (2) to assure the humane treatment of animals during transportation in commerce; and (3) to protect the owners of animals from the theft of their animals by preventing the sale or use of animals which have been stolen. The Congress further finds that it is essential to regulate, as provided in this chapter, the transportation, purchase, sale, housing, care, handling, and treatment of animals by carriers or by persons or organizations engaged in using them for research or experimental purposes or for exhibition purposes or holding them for sale as pets or any such purpose or use. The Animal Welfare Information Center (AWIC) is mandated by the Animal Welfare Act (AWA) to provide information for improved animal care and use in research, testing, teaching, and exhibition. The Animal Welfare Information Center (AWIC) is part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) National Agricultural Library (NAL) in Beltsville, Maryland. Congress' mission for the Center was clearly provided in the 1985 amendments to the Animal Welfare Act (AWA): The Secretary [of Agriculture] shall establish an information service at the National Agricultural Library. Such service shall, in cooperation with the National Library of Medicine, provide information-(1) pertinent to employee training; (2) which could prevent unintended duplication of animal experimentation as determined by the needs of the research facility; and (3) on improved methods of animal experimentation, including methods which could (A) reduce or replace animal use; and (B) minimize pain and distress to animals, such as anesthetic and analgesic procedures. Not surprisingly, the focus of the Center's information products, services, and activities is to help the regulated community with employee training and to promote the humane care and use of animals by providing information on alternatives (improved methods of animal experimentation which could reduce or replace animal use or minimize pain and distress to animals). AWIC also provides support to other USDA agencies such as the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, Animal Care and the Agricultural Research Service. The Office of Animal Care and Use administers the NIH intramural program of Animal Care and Use. This includes managing the Animal Welfare Assurance and programs of compliance with the laws, regulations and policies.
